

Leading Arts Integration by Example:
Theater Arts in the Visual Arts Classroom

Elizabeth Rubenstein

PlaymoreStudios@yahoo.com

PlayMore: Education Inspiration on FB

Theater games and activities build social skills: community, trust, communication, empathy while creating a common vocabulary and shared experience for your students.

Through theater we can practice and display a multitude of life skills: generating ideas, expressing emotion, observing others, listening, thinking flexibly, making decisions, taking action, creating iterations, failing successfully, communicating clearly. We make our learning visible. Theater games are also FUN!

Arts Integration is an APPROACH to TEACHING
in which students
construct and demonstrate UNDERSTANDING
through an ART FORM.
Students engage in a CREATIVE PROCESS which CONNECTS
an art form and another subject area and meets
EVOLVING OBJECTIVES
in both.

©2009 The John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts

grade K- 2 ideas

Be the Line

Shape Groups

Color Mixing and Complimentary Colors

APPS

Improv 4 You

Focus 1-2 -3, by Oranda

grade 4 - 6 ideas

Artmaking gestures

Before and After Tableau

Sound Orchestra

Middle School ideas

Emotional Tableau

Fake Tai Chi

Historical Photo Tableau

Warm-up Activities for all ages

Dominoes (pass the gesture)

The Gift

Express a feeling in movement

Mix it Up - conversational pairs

Emotion Chairs

Emotion circle (don't tell mom!)

Family Portraits

Presents

